Proposals must take the city and people of Barcelona as their reference and must fit in with the eight collections approved by the Editorial and Publishing Council on 11 November 2020. If they are not part of any of these collections, you should indicate for which of the publisher's collections you are proposing the publication.

- People of Barcelona. Biographies, compilations or memoirs of people closely linked to the city.
- Barcelona ecology. To raise awareness of the ecosystems and biodiversity of Barcelona and its metropolitan area.
- Present-day Barcelona. Economic, scientific, digital and social aspects, both historical and contemporary, that explain the model of the city and its metropolitan area.
- Barcelona architecture and urban planning. The future model, the present evolution and the past of urban planning and architecture in the city.
- Barcelona city and neighbourhoods. History, culture, memory and photography collections that offer a glimpse of the city's past and that of its neighbourhoods. Institutions, associations or movements that have left their mark.
- Literary Barcelona. Studies of the literary heritage, literary criticism and new editions of classics to mark major anniversaries.
- Barcelona sketched. Sketched non-fiction. To show the city differently, with historical or present-day stories that adopt the language of comics or graphic novels.
- Children's and young people's Barcelona. To show the city to young people and children.
