

Barcelona Municipal Immigration Council: Regulations regarding internal function

Introduction

The regulations governing Barcelona Municipal Immigration Council were initially approved by the Plenary Council of Barcelona City Council on 22 July 1997 and finally approved on October 24 that same year. The Municipal Immigration Council was officially constituted on 15 December 1997.

In 2008, with the agreement of all interested parties, it was decided to update these regulations, which, at the instruction of the City Council's Legal Services, became known as the Regulations Regarding Internal Functioning.

The Regulations Regarding Internal Functioning, set out below, were drawn up with the participation of all the organisations represented on the Council itself, as well as Barcelona City Council's Legal Services and Immigration Department.

The Regulations were approved by the Council Plenary on 17 February 2011. They then underwent the appropriate administrative procedure: on March 15, as an initial step, they were approved by the Commission for Culture, Education and Social Welfare with the agreement of all political groups; and, from April 8 to May 14, they were published in the provincial official journal, or Butlletí Oficial de la Província, establishing a period of thirty working days in which any individual or association could lodge objections. No objections were lodged.

The Regulations Regarding Internal Functioning of the Municipal Immigration Council were finally approved by the Plenary Council of Barcelona City Council on 30 September 2011.

Statement of purpose

The Barcelona Municipal Immigration Council (CMIB) was established in 1997 and, that same year, by agreement of the Plenary Council on October 24, the regulations governing the Council's activities, valid until the present, were approved. The CMIB was set up with the purpose of complying with the mandate established in Article 9.2 of the Spanish Constitution, which states that: "It is the duty of public powers to produce the necessary conditions to ensure that the freedoms and equality of the people and groups in which they integrate become real and effective; to remove obstacles which may impede or hinder its compliance, and to facilitate citizen integration in the political, economic, cultural and social aspects of public life."

Moreover, Article 43.1 of the Statute of Autonomy of Catalonia establishes that: "the public authorities shall promote social participation in drafting, providing and evaluating public policies, and also the participation of individuals and associations in civic, social, cultural, economic and political matters, with full respect for the principles of pluralism, free enterprise and autonomy."

Article 2 ter 2 of Organic Law 4/2000, of January 11, on the rights and freedoms of foreigners in Spain and their social integration, and Organic Law 2/2009, of December 11, call on the public administrations to incorporate the objective of integration between immigrants and the host society as a transversal issue, throughout all public policies and services, and to promote and foster the economic, social, cultural and political participation of immigrants according to the terms provided by law and in conditions of equal treatment.

The city of Barcelona is granted special status under the terms of Article 89 of the current Statute of Autonomy of Catalonia, Barcelona Municipal Charter (approved by Law 22/1998, of December 30) and State Law 1/2006, of March 13, on the special status of the municipality of Barcelona. Moreover, Article 30 of the Municipal Charter guarantees citizen participation, particularly in areas that most directly affect citizens' quality of life. Finally, 62 and 63 of Legislative Decree 2/2003, of April 28, approving the revised text of the Municipal and Local Government Act of Catalonia, regulate sector-based participatory bodies and their functions.

The Rules for citizen participation, approved by agreement of the Barcelona City Council Plenary Council on 22 November 2002, also specifically endorse the commitment made by the municipal administration to the European Charter for the Safeguarding of Human Rights in the City with regard to not only guaranteeing but also actively promoting participation. To this end, the aforementioned Rules establish that all citizens have the right to intervene – whether directly or through civic associations – in the management of public affairs, through the participatory bodies, authorities or mechanisms provided for by legislation, and to put forward suggestions and proposals at city or district level. Moreover, articles 19 ff. of these Rules govern the composition, selection, bodies and functions of sector-based councils.

The 2008-2011 Municipal Action Plan and the Immigration Work Plan, as well as the more recent Barcelona Intercultural Plan, all establish objectives and measures related to the Municipal Immigration Council. In the latter, Axis 1.3 provides for the promotion of active citizenship by extending and consolidating spaces for participation and democratic deliberation, guaranteeing that these will reflect the city's socio-cultural diversity. Amongst the specific measures established is that of reinforcing the advisory role played by the Municipal Immigration Council, as a body representing associations of immigrants in the city, many of whom lack political rights, in drafting municipal policy.

The 2008-2011 Immigration Work Plan approved by the Municipal Immigration Council revolves around four main issues: promoting and supporting associations and new forms of participation; full citizenship; internal functioning; and interculturalism. The measures provided for with regard to internal functioning include updating and agreeing the regulations governing the Council to adapt them to the conditions that currently govern local institutions (the code of ethics for associations in Barcelona), the social environment and associations.

The Council Secretariat was formally commissioned to perform this duty over the course of 2010 by agreement approved at the plenary session of 5 November 2009. This task was duly carried out, with particular efforts to reach consensus amongst the organisations and associations concerned with regard to procedures and mechanisms to guarantee participation. These Regulations Regarding Internal Functioning, as they will be known from now on, comprise a revised and updated version of the Rules hitherto in force, and were drawn up in accordance with a participatory method that involved all the bodies and organisations on the Council. In short, the new Regulations were drawn up with the objective of adapting and responding to new circumstances and challenges.
